Academy Band Makes Public Appearances

The Columbia Academy Band, which has for many years been one of the most important extra-curricular organizations in the school, has been drilling intensively for the past weeks. The band has instilled a great deal of enthusiasm in the student body, and has been largely responsible for keeping up the spirits of the cheerers during the games in which the Gubs have faced formidable opposition.

The academy band has also been working with the college band, and on several occasions they will appear as one unit. Although the band is smaller than in former years, the general impression is one of higher quality, as often happens when a group becomes more selective.

The director of the band is S. C. Dovi, who has repeatedly distinguished himself in Dubuque's musical circles. In the five years Professor Dovi has been with the academy band, he has developed it into an organization that has won recognition as a splendid high school unit.

The other officers of the band include Louis McComish, Drum Major and student manager; Robert Freund, property master; Robert Hanson, assistant property master; Robert Melchior, Librarian; and Paul Huber, assistant Librarian.

Famed Kryl Band to Appear Next Week

The renowned Kryl Symphony Band, which for many years has received nothing but the highest praise from internationally respected musical critics, will appear in the Columbia College Gymnasium on the afternoon and evening of November 14, 1934.

Conducted by Bohimur Kryl, whose fame as a cornet virtuoso and director is known the world over, the Symphony Band is now beginning its thirtieth consecutive concert tour, ample proof of the homage paid a distinctive and admittedly superior musical organization by a host of music-lovers.

In Dubuque especially is the Kryl Band establishing a tradition of unexcelled musicianship. Every time it has appeared, it has impressed upon its audiences that fine music is not restricted to orchestras alone. This is no ordinary band that plays nothing but marches or patriotic compositions. On the contrary, the

Elocution Try-Outs Held in Auditorium

The preliminaries of the three divisions of the Columbia Academy annual Elocutionary contest were held in the auditorium on October 31 for the oratorical; November 2 for the humorous and November 6 for the dramatic.

A great deal of interest was shown in this contest, which has become almost traditional in the academy. Particularly was this true of the oratorical division in which over fifty students appeared.

The men chosen from the oratorical division were Bert Ameche, Hilarius Heying, Paul Huber, William Keller, William Noonan, and Alphonse White. The alternates are Joseph Voelker and Stanley Sear. From the humorous division John Link, Robert Neuwohner, Raymond Roseliep, Philip Renier, George Thomas and Lloyd Wagner were picked, and William Cooper and James Cota are the alternates. From the dramatic division the following men were selected: Robert Degendorf, Robert Hanson, Lawrence Kemp, Joseph Kissling, Edward McDermott, Robert Swift; and the alternates are William Koob and Justin Kane.

FATHER KELLY WILL DIRECT CHORAL CLUB

Father Emmet G. Kelly, director of music for many years in Columbia Academy, has been elected to direct the Dubuque Civic Choral Club, which has been reorganized for this season.

At the first meeting of the choral club, more than sixty prospective members appeared and many others informed the director of their wish to join. Father Kelly announced to the group the tentative plans for the season, and a vote was taken to select a suitable night for rehearsals. Tuesday received the most favor, as Monday is an evening school night. Miss Marie Werdell, who has repeatedly proved her skill not only as an accompanist but as a concert pianist of note, has been chosen to accompany the choral club.

New Cheer Leaders Aid School Spirit

The opening of the football season was attended by an appeal to the students for stimulus and backing for the team. With an eye to this need a pep meeting was held in the Auditorium a few days before the first home game.

At the meeting cheer leaders were chosen. Those who showed the most ability in this regard were Roger Ryan, Joe Sprengelmeyer, Clair Baxter, and Robert Degendorf.

These men officiated at the two ensuing home-games, directed the parades before the games, and introduced new yells which were more or less enthusiastically received.

It will be the duty of these four men to collect new yells from the fertile fields of the initiative of the student body to impart these yells and call them at the games.

New and peppy yells are vital to the continued wide-awake spirit of the team, and of the entire student body, but yells, live wire cheer leaders, a hard fighting efficient team will be of no avail without the cooperation of the student body, manifested in their turnout and lung capacity at the games.

STUDENTS RECEIVE ACTIVITY TICKETS

Many important new features have been introduced into the Academy this year, and among the most outstanding are the new activity tickets and library passes, included in the same folder, which have been issued to the entire student body. These cards are a much more efficient means of identification than those in use in former years.

The new activity tickets are modeled to a large extent on the passes used by employees of the World's Fair. Father Patnode conceived the idea when he acted as host in the Columbia College Cultural Exhibit in the Hall of Religion at the Century of Progress.

The tickets consist of a leather folder, containing in the upper left hand corner a small photograph of

Gubs to Play Aquin On Homecoming Day

In conjunction with the observance of Homecoming and Dad's Day November 18, the Alumni plan to give a dinner to commemorate the twenty-five years of Professor Cretzmeyer's connection with this institution. A committee is working out plans for the celebration, but as yet no definite program has been arranged.

For years the students of Columbia College and Academy have seen Professor Cretzmeyer walking in the corridors and have contacted him in the classroom or through the medium of athletics. But, yet, there are perhaps very few who really know this man who has devoted his entire life to the ideal of Catholic education and leadership, thus willingly turning his back on what would probably have been a more lucrative field to one of his ability. Any program that may be arranged at this time will be but an external expression of the high esteem in which the Columbia Alumni hold Mr. Cretzmeyer and of the congratulations they desire to extend him at this time.

However, we cannot hope to do justice to the achievements of Professor Cretzmeyer by congratulations or expressions of high esteem. We

Seniors Pose for 1935 Class Pictures

Our worthy Seniors are rounding into the traditional senior form as attested by the fact that for the past week they have been looking their best for the camera man. The Mecca Studio is handling the job.

Senior pictures serve a three-fold purpose. First they go to make up the large picture of the senior class which is mounted and hung in the Senior Study Hall each year. These group pictures serve as a somewhat permanent and chronological record of the Academy graduates. In the second place they are used for the individual senior pictures in the Cinema-Academy year book, and lastly they are available for the student's private use. And, of course, this last mentioned service is most important in the mind of Mr. Senior. It wouldn't be out of the way to say that not a few mantels will be embellished with pictures of some of our Gables. But this reporter won't say more about that at this time, because we want to wait until we publish our Dress Parade.

Registrar Releases First Honor Roll

The Honor Roll for the First Triest shows that an unusually small number of students landed in the upper brackets when the results were tabulated in the Registrar's Office. A total of eleven students managed to get their names on the list of the top-notchers.

Even some of the old reliables fell by the wayside as professors "moved their pen and wrote" but an occasional freshman was able to get his head far enough above the horizon to score a 90 or better. We find that the following students have placed:

Evans, Joseph	32.4
Kollenbach, John	32.2
O'Neill, Arthur	31.2
Roseliep, Louis	31.2
Most, J.	31.2
Thoma, George	30.8

The First Aim of Columbia Academy

The first fundamental aim of Columbia Academy is therefore, to induce each student (1) to work at acquiring under the guidance of the Church, of a personal friendship with Christ; (2) to honour God by daily conforming his life to Christ's principles and example; (3) to lead others to God by this life demonstration of the workability, the satisfaction, and the ennobling influence of Christ's true plan of living.

This is an ambitious project, certainly, but with proper cooperation it can undoubtedly be worked out successfully to a greater or lesser degree, depending on the individual student. Let us consider the first part of this aim. It does not ask too much. It is not a dogmatic command to acquire a personal friendship with Christ, simply as if it could be done effortlessly. Rather, it asks that one work at this acquisition, under the guidance of the Church. These two qualifications are most important. In other words it is the spirit in which the attempt is made more than the accomplished fact that matters, although the one would naturally follow out of the other. It is barely possible to succeed in anything spiritual without the aid of the Church, hence the phrase, under the guidance of the Church.

Christ instituted the Church so it is only logical that to acquire a friendship with Christ we should employ His organization. But how is this friendship to be acquired? Mainly by prayer, but not necessarily in cut-and-dried formulas, although these are frequently useful. Rather we should pray by talking to Christ as a friend, a very sympathetic, a very understanding friend, who can comfort us in our petty sorrows and counsel us when we do desire.

The second part of the aim presents more difficulty. To daily conform one's life to Christ's principles and example is no little thing. In its fullest and most literal meaning it would be impossible, for it would be to achieve perfection. However, to work daily at the achieving of perfection is the finest way to spend one's life. It is thus that we become saints. The knowledge that we can never become perfect in this life gives us no excuse for not working toward it, because it is sure to come in the next. This daily conforming is to be a means of honouring God. It is, in fact, the means of honouring God, for it implies complete adherence to the teachings of Christ and His Church.

Under the heading of good example comes the third part of the aim, to lead others to God by this life demonstration of the workability, the satisfaction, and the ennobling influence of Christ's true plan of living. This is a natural result of the second part. We should never be obvious about giving good example, for it then is a defeat of its own purpose. Truly good example is quiet, unobtrusive, and this is the way it achieves its effect, just as silence is usually more powerful than blustering.

CRETZMEYER TO BE HONORED AT HOMECOMING

must try to better appreciate our broad shouldered, silver crowned "noblest Roman of them all." But to penetrate deeper we find him to be a man of sterling character, firm heart, fair play, and keen judgment. A man who has really played a great part in the making of our college. Cretz is a good coach because he is essentially a teacher. He teaches sports.

When we interviewed "Cretz" we found him in a genial mood. And after the traditional pipe was lit—traditional because it takes away the awkwardness of an interview—he gave us a broad and gracious smile while we extracted some of the following information.

John W was born in Waverly, Iowa, February 16, 1885 and as he remembers it, it was a very cold day. He was born of Irish and German parents and it seems that out of this happy combination he inherited his Irish wit and German steadfastness. He was but one of a large family, of which two are now Sisters of Mercy, two doctors—C. H. of Algona and F. X. of Emmetsburg. One brother was killed in the World War. The parents passed away only recently.

The young John attended St. Bernard's Parochial School at Waverly and in the course of time came to Dubuque to matriculate at Columbia, then St. Joseph's College, in 1904. We are sorry that we do not have the space to go into his career at Columbia, but we can mention only the fact

Academy Students in Catholic Action Week

Four Academy students occupied prominent roles in the ceremonies and educational advantages offered by the Catholic Action Week at the college gym. Raymond Rosellep and Francis Thor represented the Academy, speaking ably on "The Leader Book and Programmer" during the C. S. M. C. Crusade program. At the same time Arthur O'Neill and Robert Deggendorf were official delegates for the Academy at the Sodality Conference, where they talked on "The Sodality Committees" and did full justice in making this program intensely interesting.

MUSEUM NOTES

Columbia received much praise from people all over the country because of their beautiful exhibit in the Hall of Religion at A Century of Progress Exposition. In the exhibit were many paintings from the large collection housed in the Columbia College Museum.

At the closing of the World's Fair, the art-lovers of Chicago were reluctant to have the display taken away, so arrangements were made and the collection is now being displayed for a limited length of time at Klein's Department Store at 14th and Halstead St. in Chicago.

The Museum situated in Science Hall and under the direction of Father William Kessler will open officially in a few weeks.

C.S.M.C. Plans For Regional Conference

The various speakers on the Crusade Program during Catholic Action Week have formed themselves into a temporary committee for the purpose of determining whether or not Dubuque should have a Regional Conference.

Plans for the same are rather tentative as yet, but are rapidly taking action. The Academy Unit enthusiastically endorsed the movement, and appointed Francis Thor and Raymond Rosellep as official representatives from the Academy.

The purpose of a Regional Conference is to have inter-school programs on the Missions and their activities. Each school will take its turn in putting on a program for the other member schools.

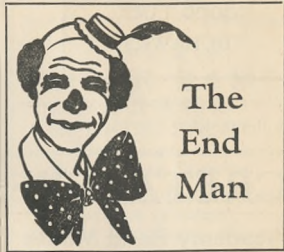

FORMER PRINCIPAL SPEAKS OVER RADIO

Our former Principal, the Reverend Dr. William H. Russell, was speaker on the "Church of the Air" Sunday, October 28. For his topic he chose "Christ and Modern Society." Father Russell is a member of the faculty of the Catholic University of America at Washington, D. C.

Congratulations!

ACADEMY CHOIR TO HAVE ACTIVE SEASON

Father Kelly, musician outstanding in Academy activities and otherwise, has added another help to while away his time in the form of a hymn class conducted after Benediction every Friday in the chapel. The students to all outward appearances are fully interested in the movement and each has procured for himself a hymnal to be used for these occasions. Different and more varied melodies have been introduced and put into practice.

The End
Man

Ladies and gentlemen—did you know that:

Hartford and Glover are not twins? According to O'Neill, Public Speaking is one of the finer arts?

Trebson read a newspaper while playing in the game at La Crosse?

All the cheer leaders got one vote when voting for head cheer leader? I'm not so sure how many cheer leaders we have, but I believe we have four politicians "in them there boys." Yes, Sirree!

Since the biggest nuts are found at the bottom of anything we wouldn't think of mentioning Bob Hanson's name until last. No, Bob, this isn't the Buyer's Guide and we won't say a word about the viewing of the dam sight. Oh, not a word.

Believe it or not no "gal" gets a rise out of Joe Sprenkelmeyer—in the street car.

Professor: "Mr. Ryan, where do elephants reach their greatest size?"

Mr. "Wimpy" Ryan: "Oh, oh, ah, aa, on circus posters"

And what happened to the four stooges who missed the bus coming from the dance Halloween?

Girl Friend: "Shall we waltz?"
H. Gonzer: "It's all the same to me."

Girl Friend: "So I've noticed."

Overheard at the waiter's table: "Now, Joe, is there really any particular reason why you don't care for blondes?" "Oh, yes Vince, indeed there is. In fact Dorothy is very particular about it."

Now we know that Deggendorf really wants to get his name in this column. But we wouldn't think of mentioning Deggendorf's name here. But of course if Deggendorf can convince us that Deggendorf's name should be in this column, then we will mention Deggendorf. But who is Deggendorf?

A group of interested students were watching E. Bahl fix his ford.

Finally Thor inquired as to what was wrong.

"It's the starter," exclaimed Bahl. "There must be a short circuit."

"Oh my," replied Thor, "can't you lengthen it?"

English Professor: "What is a metaphor?"

Freshy: "To keep a cow in, of course."

Father Stemm's breviary is said to be softening considerably. Eh Weitz?—or is it the man behind the book?

GUBS BEAT OELWEIN 26-0; TIE AQUINAS 0-0

Gubs Snach 26-0 Win From Oelwein

Due to the overwhelming power and deceptive plays the rejuvenated Gubs dashed and passed their way to a 26 to 0 victory over Sacred Heart High, Oelwein, at the Municipal Athletic field, Sunday afternoon, October 28.

The Gubs completely outplayed Oelwein in every department of the game. This was partly due to the fact that the Academy's line was somewhat heavier than that of Oelwein's. However, the Gubs proved themselves to be a much more aggressive and a more smoothly clicking team.

Beginning immediately in the first quarter the Junior Purple and Gold took complete control of the situation. After an exchange of punts the Gubs gained possession of the ball on Oelwein's 35 yard line. Gloden on the first play made 5 yards off tackle, followed by an end run with Voelker carrying the ball for a first down. On the next play Koifenbach made a sensational 20 yard run for a touchdown. Geisler's plunge was good for the extra point.

In the second quarter Weldon returned an Oelwein punt to Oelwein's 37 yard line. Then through consistent smashing at center by Geisler and a few end runs by Gloden and Voelker the ball was brought to the 1 yard line where it was taken over by Voelker. Geisler's kick was good.

In the second half Oelwein kicked off to the Gubs 40 yard line. On a pass, Weldon to Donahue, which netted 16 yards and several consistent gains by Geisler the ball was brought up to Oelwein's ten yard line. Weldon then tossed a short bullet pass to Voelker who crossed the line for Columbia's third touchdown.

In the last quarter Coach Cretzmeier made numerous substitutions, but this did not seem to weaken the Academy's powerful drive and late in the quarter Voelker again scored on a smash off tackle. Following this touchdown Oelwein's offense began to click for the first time; however the quarter was too far gone and the game ended with Oelwein failing to score.

Voelker and Geisler were the most valuable ball carriers in the Gub's backfield. The former accounted for three touchdowns while Geisler tremendous power on his numerous plunges through center. Weldon's splendid field generalship and "Red" Keller's effective defensive work also proved a big factor in the Gub's victory.

Nagy's consistent and very deadly tackling, together with Mazzitotti's and Peter's fine offensive work added considerable color to the Oelwein team.

Gubs Play 0-0 Tie With Aquinas High

Playing on a field almost completely covered with water, Columbia battled Aquinas High School of La Crosse, Wis., to a scoreless tie Saturday, November 3. The entire game played in an icy cold drizzle was hard fought and both teams showed outstanding power in stopping each others line plays.

FIGHTING GUBS

Gloden, sometimes standing ankle deep in water, kept kicking Columbia deep down into Aquinas territory and practically the entire game was played in the opponents half of the muddy field. At times the ball would be floating on top of the water as Keller would go to center it but with all the difficulties of a muddy, water logged ball, Keller passed the ball back the entire game with perfect accuracy and steadiness.

The most spectacular run of the afternoon was made by Weldon who caught a punt on his own thirty yard line and ran through the entire La Crosse team for forty-five yards before he was finally downed by an Aquinas man on the twenty-five yard line.

Koifenbach and Donahue covered Gloden's kicks so thoroughly that Aquinas wasn't able to return them more than 5 or 10 yards at the most.

The whole game was a kicking duel. Each team after gaining the ball from their opponent tried one or two line plays and as a rule they were unable to gain on the muddy field and were repeatedly forced to kick each time.

The Aquinets launched a passing attack in the last few minutes of play and completed two of them for a distance of about ten or eleven yards but the gun sounded ending the game before a touchdown could have been scored.

Duhawks Defeat Circuit Leaders

Coach Niemiec's fighting Duhawks upset the dope bucket last Saturday and knocked the pace setting Parsons team out of first place in the Iowa Conference scramble. The final score was 7 to 2.

The Duhawks registered their touchdown on the first play of the game. Croker, versatile back received the opening kickoff and dashed in and out of the customary wedge through a sea of mud past bewildered Parsons tacklers and over the goal. Broderick made good the extra point.

The rest of the game was a punting duel between Croker and Dubois, the Wildcats stellar back. Late in the game one of Croker's kicks was blocked and sent flying over the end zone which gave the visitors a safety and two points. For the most part the Duhawks played inspired ball defending their treasured lead with deeds of maritime skill. The defensive play of Brady was well nigh phenomenal.

St. Ambrose Wins From Fighting Gubs

St. Ambrose Academy of Davenport defeated the Gubs Sunday afternoon, October 21, by a score of 13 to 6 and thereby practically shattered Columbia Academy's hope of the 1934 state championship. The game was marred by numerous fumbles and erratic playing on the part of the Gubs.

A crowd of nearly 3000 persons, the largest crowd to witness a football game at the athletic field this season, saw the game.

The Junior Saints scored both of their touchdowns in the first quarter—the result of fumbles on the part of Columbia. The Gubs made their touchdown in the second quarter when Ceuvorst attempted to punt from his own 15 yard line. He made a poor kick and Trehon, the Gubs' 200 pound guard, scooped it up and galloped away for a touchdown.

This ended the scoring for the afternoon although Ambrose threatened once more in the last quarter when they advanced the ball to the Columbia 8 yard line only to lose it on downs.

Ceuvorst and Carney were the most outstanding backfield men for St. Ambrose while Hoogerworf did the most effective defensive work in the line. The fine tackling of Koifenbach and the consistent blocking of Gene Geisler proved them to be the most valuable men for Coach Cretzmeier. Keller was outstanding at Center.

In the last few minutes of play Columbia attempted to score by launching an aerial attack, but they were unable to put it over.

Teenies Win Over Midgets; Score 19-13

Last Friday the Teenies won 19-13 in a hard-fought victory over the Midgets in one of this season's best games in the Intramural League.

Early in the first quarter Goblewski of the Teenies crossed the goal line for the first score of the game. The Midgets seemed to gain strength after this first assault and in the next quarter they evened the score when Ryan caught a long pass from Ottave and scampered for a touchdown. Not to be outdone, the Teenies scored another touchdown with Goblewski again carrying the ball.

The second half opened with the Teenies determined to take further revenge for past defeats. They launched a sustained drive which netted them a touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

The game ended with the Midgets vainly trying to score another touchdown.

Russellers Battle Dodgers to Tie 0-0

On Monday night, October 15, the Dodgers and the Russellers battled to their second consecutive scoreless tie of the season.

Neither team showed any colorful playing and at times the numerous fumbles and poor co-operation on plays made the game very uninteresting.

Botsford was the big star for the Dodgers, carrying the ball practically all the time. DeCorrell and Murray looked best for the Russellers. Due to the fact that this game resulted in a tie neither team has been able to be registered in the win or loss column of the Major League standings.

An Acknowledgment

We are pleased to acknowledge the column in The Lorian devoted to the Academy and its activities.

The originator of the column, Barton McQuillan, is well known to all of us for his ability as a writer and public speaker. In his junior year Burt served as Editor of the Cee Ay.

CATHOLIC ACTION NOTES

During the month of November, Academy day students will have the opportunity of assisting at daily Mass for the poor souls. The Mass will be at 7:40 and all students who can possibly do so are urged to be present.

The decorations in the Loras Gymnasium for Catholic Action Week programs were handled by Father Striegel assisted by a number of students from the college and academy departments. Mr. Arthur Rastatter, window decorator at Rosheks gave valuable help in the plan. Delegates were enthusiastic in their praise of the work.

Bearing out the fact that the C. S. M. C. is the headliner this year, over sixty boys have applied for membership in the Round Tables and Study Units. These are being organized in each class and plans of procedure are in the making. The purpose of this division is that students might participate in a detailed study of the missions and acquire first-hand information regarding the condition and the needs of Mission work which is being forwarded by the Church in no small way.

John Routledge, a freshman, was the first Academy boy to receive a full year's membership in the organization of the C. S. M. C. by payment of his dues. John's example was closely followed by two sophomore officers of the Crusade, George Freund and James Pauly, and by another freshman, Donald Lark, who is himself a convert.

Officers of the units, as a group, earnestly request that all Crusaders co-operate with them and make their good-will contributions as soon as possible. Twenty-five cents is all that is asked from each Crusader.

Under the co-operative direction of Raymond Rosellep and Art O'Neill, progressive plans for a senior Mission Play to be produced by their section of the C. S. M. C. Unit are moving forward again after a two weeks respite. The energetic directors are casting about for any students interested in either the script or the acting ends of the play. The Missions are to benefit from the profits derived.

Last week marked the arrival of the first pamphlets, and from the attitude of the members of the Pamphlet-a-Month-Club, the leaders of this project are very optimistic regarding its success.

The Seniors are working their's in with their regular class work in Religion. The great demand for the pamphlet "Christ and His Church" proves this to be the most popular among them.

The Junior members of the "Pamphlet a Month Club" unanimously agree that the two pamphlets received so far, namely "The Man We Can't Ignore" and "Christ the Modern" are the most interesting as well as informative and inspirational. They rather agree also that their nickels were well spent. "If the others are up to the standard set by these," says Bob Neuwoehner, "I'm sure I won't regret spending a dime."

With special permission of Archbishop Beckman, Columbia Academy will have volunteer adoration every First Friday of the year.

This devotion will open with High Mass at 8:00 a. m. The entire student body will participate in the congregational singing of Mass. At the conclusion of Mass, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed, and volunteer adoration will continue until 1:00 p. m., at which time all will again assemble in the chapel for solemn consecration and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Over three-fourths of the students responded to the first call for volunteer adorers.

that he was Captain of the most famous baseball team that this college ever produced—a team that boasted of renowned "Red" Faber-Steffen battery.

After a years rest "John, the Stalwart," joined the Columbia faculty. Since that time he has taught mathematics and we believe that he prefers this to any of his hobbies. Latin and Public Speaking have come into his life also.

His achievements as a coach are second to those of a teacher and that is saying a great deal. It was in 1914 that he took over the job of baseball coach and he continued in this capacity until 1920, when a retrenchment forced the abandonment of that sport as an inter-collegiate activity. But it was in basket ball that Coach Cretzmeier produced his famous "point a minute" combination in H. Long, J. Long, McCarthy, D. Noonan and Captain Comerford—a quintet that defeated Loyola, De Paul St. Viator and Notre Dame on the same trip.

Since 1920 Cretz has been head coach at the Academy and in that capacity he has won a string of honors, among them the trophy for the best coached team at the National Catholic Basketball Tournament in 1929.

Mr. Cretzmeier was married in 1916 to Mary Klauer of Dubuque. Two children, Ann and John, Jr. have been born to this union and Mr. and Mrs. Cretzmeier and family live a quiet home life at 1159 Iowa Street. In between times John finds time to take part in Knights of Columbus and various Catholic Action Activities in our city. And when he can get a day off he likes to steal away to the woods up North, or, in season, bag a few ducks on the Mississippi.

FAMED KYRL BAND TO APPEAR NEXT WEEK

Kyrl Symphony Band includes in its repertoire some of the finest overtures ever written, works of Wagner, Goldmark, Strauss, and superb arrangements of the classics. Never has it failed to thrill its audiences with its brilliant presentations and its intelligent choice of selection.

The performance this year of the Kyrl Symphony Band will prove no exception to its record of thirty years standing. The soloists with the Symphony Band are Catherine Reiner, soprano, whose artistry has achieved for her an enviable position in the operatic world; and Marie Caslova, violinist, who has appeared with almost every important symphony orchestra both in America and on the continent, including the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Symphony, and the Chicago Symphony.
